Comment: At just over 5 fledglings per box, this is the most productive Bluebird season (of the past ten) at Tanglewood Park.

The third nesting cycle of the season has concluded at Tanglewood and is in its final stage throughout NW North Carolina.

It is still possible, although quite unlikely, that additional nesting will occur, with risk of failure increasing as the Fall season and cold weather nears...

Nesting boxes should be cleaned/repared as needed in the next few weeks. Consider relocating nestboxes that have been unproductive or the target of predators for more than two years...

Next posting to this site, scheduled to resume early Spring 2013.
